

Non-Violent Action: A Force for Change

An opportunity to get involved in constructing learning opportunities using Philosophy for Children (P4C) approaches in PSHE and Citizenship and History for pupils aged 8-13.

Find out more and join in a FREE session to generate initial creative ideas on:

Friday 8th March 2019 1pm - 4pm at DECSY,
Scotia Works, Leadmill Road, Sheffield, S1 4SE.

Tea, coffee and snacks provided.

Attendees may later have the opportunity to contribute to writing lesson plans and teaching activities based on inspiring local and global examples of people effecting positive change without resorting to violence.

From September 2019 to July 2020 a number of schools will be selected to pilot the materials, with funding provided to release teachers for half a day per half term to work together to share experiences and develop the lessons.

The project materials will be published and disseminated nationally in the final year of the project (August 2020 to June 2021).

The lesson plans will:

- Provide inspiring case studies of groups of people locally and from around the world, past and present, involved in non-violent social change.
- Offer pupils ways to think critically about gender issues and enable them to understand that masculinity can be expressed in non-violent ways.
- Engage pupils with local and global issues so that they feel motivated to work for change.
- Help pupils to decide on actions with a local or global impact and give them the tools to carry them out.
